"I have forgotten. I don't remember."
Mr. Goff tried to jog the witness's memory, but did not have much success. He said some of it went to the postman, some to telegraph messengers and other presents and for charities.

"But you see it was paid for watching the dock." said Mr. Goff.

This rather posed Mr. Forget, but he said that came under the "et cetera."

"It's not that. I never had anything to say against them."
Formerly there was a French policeman on the dock who was removed, but Mr. Forget denied that he tried to have him reinstated there.
"What was the cause of his removal?" lasked Mr. Goff.
"Mr. West told me that it was because the Capiain wanted to change him?"
"Was that all?"
"Was that all?"

"I don't know."
"Do you mean to say that you, a trusted agent of a Steamship Company, have appropriated $500 to your own use for which you are unable to account to the directors of the Company."

Lawyer Jones, who represented the Company, was present and objected to the questions, out the Chairman of the Committee would not allow him to say anything Mr. Goff said he could go on the stand and testify if he wanted to.

Finally Mr. Forcet said the Company did not ask him for the details of such times, and the matter had passed out of his memory.
"I understand your lapse of memory perfectly," said Mr. Goff. "But why didn't you give $1,000".
"Because I thought $500 was enough."

Mr. Goff remarked when he had finished with Policeman Dugann, that it was refreshing to have a member if the police force on the stand who was evidently telling the whole truth.

When Degan left the witness stand and walked down to the door he was greeted with a hearty round of applause from the spectators, which the Chairman did not seek to repress.

"Did you pay money to any one after Degan left?"

"No. sir. The conditions were different. Another man was sent to the dock, but he was no good and of no service to us, so I did not pay him."

Mr. West said he remembered Gannon, the ward man, who came to him once and demanded regnan's money.

"I told him that if he was entitled to receive it and would give me a receipt for it, I would give it to him. But he only laughed at me."

"Did you pay him?"

"No. sir."

The witness said he knew nothing about the payment of $500 charged to wharf-watching in the account book of the Company.

But Mr. Forget said you paid out money, said Mr. Goff.
"I don't remember it now," replied Mr.

"Will you deny under oath that you did not pay that money to Capt. Schmittberger?"
No. I will not deny it. I don't re-

"Sometimes more and sometimes less."

"For watching the wharf?"

"That and other things."

"The witness said the Company was perfectly satisfied that the money had been spent judiclously, and it had his vouchers for it.

Policeman Louis Degan was then called. Chairman Lexow had retired and Senator Pound took his place as presiding officer.

Schmittberger Wanted His Pay.

Degan said he had been twenty-one years on the force and had never siplied for promotion. He was on the French line pier for eleven years. He spoke French some and this was of service to the Company. He said he also worked after hours of regular duty, sometimes all night long.

"Did you receive a small salary in compensation for this?" asked Mr. Goff.

Stockholders Think He Has Too Pat a Job.

Theodore Sutro, of the Comstock Tunnel Company, which is the old Sutro Tunnel Company reorganized, is having a pretty lively time at the annual meeting of the Company, now in progress, trying to retain his office. The annual meeting began yesterday, and was trying to retain his office. The annual meeting began yesterday, and was continued to-day.

The cause of the row is that Mr. Sutro is President of the Company, at a salary of $6,000 a year, and is also counsel for the concern. His salary and individual expenses, of clerk and office hire, made the cost of maintaining the New York offices of the Tunnel Company last year amount to over $11,000. Some of the stockholders say that arrangements can be made with the Continental Tribat Company whereby the latter will run the entire New York end of the business of the Tunnel Company for the lump sum of $2,000 a year.

would have been worth 1,000 rupees to any young sportsman to have witnessed it.

So carefully did he put down each paw and so gradually did he crush the leaves under it that not a sound was to be heard. Between him and the bullock was a stump about four feet high, with long projecting surface roots. This, plainly, the tiger looked upon as a godsend. He got upon one of the roots, balanced himself carefully, and so was able to walk quickly and sliently as far as the stump. He approached so gradually and noiselessly and his color against the brown leaves was so invisible that he was close upon the bullock before he was perceived.

Then instantly the bullock charged. Then instantly the bullock charged, the tiger eluded him and in a moment more had his paws on the bullock's neck ready to drag him down. Then, like a flash, he caught sight of the rope by which the bullock was tied, and turned and sprang into the forest, all so quickly that the man in the tree had no opportunity to fire.

FAILED TO HOLD THE GAIN.

Cotton Opened the Day with a Sharp Advance. Sharp Advance.

First call cotton sales were at an advance of about 10 points, November selling at 5.96; December, 6.07 a 6.09; January, 6.14 a 6.15; March, 6.28 a 6.27; May, 6.37 a 6.38. There was a share reaction, however, on a weakening market in Liverpool and non-confirmation of frost reports. Nearly all of the advance was lost during the forenoon. Corn opened 1-2 a 5-8c. lower, in sympathy with the drop in wheat, and May sold here at 541-4c, and at 501-4c. in Chicago. Oats opened at 341-4c, for December here, and 29 3-4c. in Chicago, a decline of about 1-2c.

Hog products opened steady, but weakened later.
